

Preface

rescue the memory of the pioneer from oblivion.

His philosophical speculations and his many books have vanished away, for he knew only in part. But his self-sacrificing love never faileth and its memory can not perish. His biography emphasizes his own motto:

“He who lives by the Life can not die.”

It is this part of Lull's life that has a message for us to-day, and calls us to win back the Mohammedan world to Christ.
