

Collyridians—Intercourse with Christians—Yemen Christianity—Abyssinian—Koelle's conclusion—Could Mohammed read and write?

VII. PREDESTINATION VS. FATALISM . . . . . 93

The importance of this doctrine in Islam's idea of God—Distinguished from Christian teaching—Terms used—Koran passages—El Berkevi's summary—Tradition on this topic—Pre-existence of souls—Adam and Moses—The salvation of infants—Fatalism of the Greeks—Of Islam—“Allah katib”—“Inshallah”—“El-hamdu-lillah”— Moslem idea of prayer—The fundamental difference between Calvinistic and Moslem doctrine of the decrees—Allah not love—No Fatherhood—The Moslem hell—Source of these ideas—The Talmud —Story of the angel of death—Other views of Predestination—The orthodox view widespread—Barren of ideas.

VIII. THE COMPLETED IDEA AND ITS INSUFFICIENCY . . . . . 107

The Moslem idea of God compared with that of Christianity—The true standard—Mohammed's ascent to heaven—Four elements wanting—No Fatherhood—The lack of love in the Moslem religion—Mysticism a revolt—The distorted idea of justice—The law in Islam—Lack of harmony in Allah's attributes—The results of such Monothe-ism—Islam's ideal of ethics—The Moslem idea of God is sterile—The Christian Trinity—No compromise is possible—The only True God and Jesus Christ.