

XXV

“WHAT WILT THOU HAVE ME TO DO?”

THOSE of us who have read the pages of this book right through to the end, will find such words as are at the head of this chapter rise involuntarily to our lips. What must we do?

Thank God, He has a plan. “He sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.” “It is not the will of your Father in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish.” Then let us all ask Him to teach us how these countless Moslem women and girls may be saved. He can bless the old ways of work and He can lead into new ways.

The following methods have been tried and each one is capable of further development.

Women’s medical work has removed prejudice and opened closed doors. We should have many more women missionary doctors. We should also have many qualified nurses, especially those skilled in midwifery. They are often only summoned to attend difficult or dangerous cases, so that it is a necessity to be thoroughly efficient, and they need to do the work in a missionary spirit. Women’s hospitals as a base of operations are needed, so that those