

by this have received power to believe in the victory of Jesus Christ over even Moslem hearts.

It is worth while to work for those, who having such a capacity for single-hearted, stout, and fiery adherence to what they think right, will make as whole-hearted followers of Jesus Christ, once they are won for Him. When with hearts longing for the appearance of the Sun of Righteousness, we ask the question: "Watchman, what of the morning? Watchman, what of the morning?" our faith, looking over Moslem Russia covered as yet by the darkness of night, answers: "It is yet night, yes, but the morning cometh!"
